MINISTER'S MESSAGE

The Trelawny Municipal Corporation is one of the exemplary Local Authorities that has continued to be very deliberate in its efforts to improve the experience of daily living for all its parishioners, as well as those who visit and work within it.

This Municipal Corporation has worked with diligence, consideration and skill to implement critical initiatives and to maintain important policies and programmes geared toward the transformation of the parish. It is therefore no coincidence that Trelawny was specifically identified as making an important contribution to the nearly 4% growth in Jamaica's Services sector in 2023, in the Review of Jamaica's Economic Performance by the Planning Institute of Jamaica.

While the parish continues to expand its footprint as a major location in the tourism industry, with expanding construction of attractions and hotels, I am also very pleased and heartened by the vital work being done by the Municipal Corporation to train and develop a new class of micro and small-business entrepreneurs in collaboration with our Agency, the Social Development Commission, through various mechanisms under the Local Economic Development Support Programme. This is absolutely critical to the Ministry's and Government's efforts to strongly increase the pace of rural development by expanding economic opportunities within communities, thereby making them more self-sufficient, prosperous, and reducing the population drift from rural spaces to urban centres.

Due to the combination of governmental vision, public and private sector confidence and investment, and the strong parochial leadership of the Trelawny Municipal Corporation, this parish has moved beyond rebounding from the effects of the pandemic, and is on a trajectory of growth and development. The Corporation has continued to promote the economic diversification of the parish by encouraging the agricultural and goods-producing sectors, along with the services sector. Due to this critical focus, Trelawny's profile is decisively evolving into one of the desirable physical spaces that the Government is working to make all of Jamaica become: the place of choice to live, work, raise families and do business.

Your efforts stand as irrefutable proof that national development begins with local government. I must laud the very impressive work being done by the municipal authorities of this parish, led by His Worship the Mayor of Falmouth Colin Gager, for its commitment and sheer hard work. I encourage you to continue to make your parish a shining example of what is possible when dedication to public service drives ingenuity and partnership. The role and profile of Local Government is elevated by your example, and I am heartened and proud to be your Minister.

MESSAGE FROM MAYOR

Chairman of the Trelawny Municipal Corporation (TMC) and Mayor of Falmouth, Councillor Collen Gager

"If you can't fly then run, if you can't run then walk, if you can't walk then crawl, but whatever you do you have to keep moving forward." – Martin Luther King Jr .

Moving forward is what we at the Trelawny Municipal Corporation continue to do, as we seek to also move this town and parish forward.

The Trelawny Municipal Corporation remains committed to the people of this parish, and will continue to put citizens first. As a Corporation we have been standing by and with our residents and the vulnerable among us, and it is our commitment to continue to do same.

I urge our residents to be compliant in the requisite areas that you are required to conform to. I urge you to continue to pay your property taxes so that we can serve you better. Ensure that you obtain the relevant permits before building or making extensions.

As political and civic leaders, we must lead by example and encourage our citizens to protect themselves and family during these times and beyond.

I take this time to acknowledge the commitment and continuous support of other government and non-government agencies. It is through these partnerships that the local authority will become a more powerful entity that is able to be at the forefront of "Building Back Better".

The Municipal Corporation continues to enhance the beauty and cleanliness in the town of Falmouth and the parish, by undertaking numerous projects and activities to include: drain cleaning and bushing exercises in the town of Falmouth, cleaning of the dragline, major road repairs throughout the parish and beautification works.

As we seek to foster a harmonious relation between the Municipal Corporation and the citizens of Trelawny, I encourage each person to engender civic pride, respect the authorities, cooperate with the Municipal Corporation and play your part in advancing the welfare of the whole human race.

MESSAGE FROM CEO

Winston Palmer, CEO, Trelawny Municipal Corporation,

The parish of Trelawny is truly a blessed parish; one that is stamping its relevance in so many spheres and activities. The resilience and fortitude displayed during the time of the pandemic, speaks to the calibre of residents in this parish.

At the Trelawny Municipal Corporation, the mantra of "Committed to You...Committed to the Future", remains constant in our minds as we work to improve the lives and wellbeing of those we serve. We are taking on a more resolute approach to see law and order maintained within the municipality, and also to have a greater level of compliance within the parish.

Enforcement and compliance are important if we are to see an improved town and parish. While we seek to serve the parish, residents must comply with regulations set in order for us to enjoy a favourable relationship, even as we engender pride in the town and parish.

It cannot be business as usual with the illegal vending in the town and on the highway, as this is counterproductive to what we want to see for our parish. The Falmouth Market has been designated as the place for vending, and it still remains. Proper registration and approval should be sought by anyone seeking to sell in the market. The town centre and along the highway are no-vending zones. The Corporation, this year will be taking a zero tolerance approach to unauthorized vending, as it impedes law and order, creates avenues for accidents and other mishaps and fosters an unsightly and distasteful scene in the parish.

In the areas of events permit and signs and billboards, we will be removing all unauthorized signs and billboards that are mounted. The Trelawny Municipal Corporation will ensure that the proper enforcement is done where compliance is concerned.

The measures in place are not to create an antagonistic relationship with the Municipal Corporation and the vendors/residents; they are put in place to enforce civic order and to have a better managed town and parish.

I look forward to an improvement in the lives of all, as we seek to make Trelawny the place of choice to live and do business.

FALMOUTH, Trelawny: The Ministry of Local Government and Community Development expanded its Municipal Social Assistance Programme (MSAP) with the opening of a Drop-In Centre to serve the homeless population in Falmouth, Trelawny.

The J$19m facility was built on lands at Victoria Street and is a stone's throw away from the Trelawny Police Headquarters and the Falmouth Public General Hospital.

Minister McKenzie noted that it is the duty of the Government to protect the vulnerable and the Administration continues to fulfill this responsibility through the rehabilitation of infirmaries and the construction of drop-in centres.

The Trelawny Drop-In Centre is the fifth to be constructed under MSAP's conceptualization in 2017. Similar facilities have been opened in Ocho Rios, St. Ann; Port Maria, St. Mary; Lucea, Hanover, and Black River in St. Elizabeth.

"The expansion of national facilities that will provide care and comfort to our homeless citizens is an important aspect of the work of this Government," said Portfolio Minister, Honourable Desmond McKenzie.

"It is one of the features of the human face of this Administration, and a symbol of our commitment to assisting the vulnerable in our society."

He was speaking at the official hand-over ceremony on Wednesday, July 15, 2020.

Those expected to be commissioned into use next are in Linstead, St. Catherine and St. Thomas.

Drop-In Centres are the first point of contact for homeless persons and offer a range of care including a bath and other hygiene care, food, and medical assessment.

"These facilities were constructed so we can reach as many people as possible and where we can provide them with food, medicine and in some cases, a place to sleep," the Minister added.

“If they are tired and want somewhere to sleep, don’t turn them away. Provide a bed and let them sleep.”

He noted that since the onset of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19), the Government has been providing meals to more than 2000 homeless persons with two meals daily at the drop-in centres. This number also include some individuals who are not homeless but visit the facilities to access meals.

KINGSTON, Jamaica – Minister of Local Government and Community Development, Desmond McKenzie on Friday officially opened the Falmouth Homeless Shelter in Trelawny.

The facility was constructed at a cost of $25 million, and will provide temporary shelter, meals, and bathroom facilities for the homeless citizens of Falmouth and its environs.

It is located on the same premises as the Trelawny Drop-in Centre, which was opened by the Government in 2020.

In his remarks at the opening ceremony, McKenzie said the shelter was the first such facility, located outside of the Corporate Area.

He noted that while the shelter was constructed to house up to 20 persons at a time, 14 males and six females, if more persons need the facility’s services at any given time, they can utilise the drop-in centre.

“The doors of these facilities must never be closed to these persons who are in need of our help,” McKenzie remarked.

Additionally, the minister urged beneficiaries to take care of the facility and behave accordingly when they utilise its services.

In the meantime, McKenzie underscored the importance of taking care of the island’s indigent residents.

“A lot of these persons living on our streets, some of them their families have put out, some of them leave rural areas to go to Kingston, or leave the hills of Trelawny and come into Falmouth, didn’t find what they were looking for, have nowhere to go and end up on the street,” he said.

“Regardless of the circumstances that brought them to our streets, it is not our responsibility to abuse them, and I want to challenge the people of Falmouth and the surrounding communities to be a part of this crusade that speaks to protecting, caring and most importantly, respecting these people for who they are and not where they are living,” he added.

Mayor of Falmouth, Collen Gager, thanked the Minister for ensuring that the facility was constructed and for continuing his crusade to protect the island’s indigent residents.

“It warms my heart to witness this opening, even as we still celebrate the opening of the drop-in centre. The streets of Falmouth have its fair share of people who just need someone or some place to cater to them. I am happy for this facility which provides shelter for the homeless at night,” he said.

He also commended the staff at the Trelawny Municipal Corporation for spearheading the completion of the shelter, under the directives of the Local Government Ministry.

Mayor Gager also implored the citizens of Falmouth to preserve and keep the facility safe from vandalism.

INDIGENT HOMES HANDED OVER IN TRELAWNY

Two indigent houses, built under the Ministry of Local Government and Community Development's Municipal Social Assistance Programme (MSAP), have been handed over in the parish of Trelawny. The recipients were Miss Beverley Grant of Penn Road in Stettin and Vernice and Lloyd Dell of Martha Brae. Both houses were handed over by Minister, Honourable Desmond McKenzie on January 29.

The indigent houses under the MSAP feature a studio design of approximately 200 square-foot and each built at a cost of $1.8 million. The dwellings are furnished with a bed, refrigerator, stove, a dining table and other household items.

According to Minister McKenzie, the Government is committed to the protection of the country's most vulnerable. He shared that the administration has spent more than J$1 billion in the 2019/2020 fiscal year on social assistance programmes.

The Local Government and Community Development Minister also underscored that the nation is also gauged by the treatment meted out to the poor and needy.

Ornecia Williams-Blackstock
Youth Mayor 2009-2010

When I was announced as winner of this competition, I was very awestruck as I was possibly the most hesitant and nervous participant. I was never convinced that my speech was as good as my fellow competitors, some of whom came with graphics and all. As I vividly recall being announced as the Junior Mayor for 2009-2010, tears and joy filled my eyes.

My tenure was filled with a lot of exposure, partnership and ceremonies which have greatly contributed to my development today. During my tenure, the first Governor-General's I Believe Initiative Breakfast was held at Hopewell High School, and I was honoured to have been a participant in such. Additionally, in that same year I had lunch with the then Prime Minister, the Honourable Bruce Golding, the then Minister of Local Government, the Honorable Robert Montague as well as other Junior Mayors across the island. That was a memorable afternoon. Another outstanding event was the installation of the former Custos Rotulorum, Mr. Muschette, at which I have the absolute honour of gifting Lady Allen and she remembered me from other functions at which I would have presented her with tokens. That warmed my heart greatly.

However, in all the meetings I attended, the events at which I represented the youth of Trelawny, all the lobbying I did and events I attended, nothing compares to the Labour Day project that came to fruition for the Stewart Town Basic School. Through partnership with the Trelawny Chamber of Commerce, Jamaica Public Service (JPS) and Ministry of Local Government, we were able to rehabilitate the playground for the forty-seven (47) students and fencing around it to make it safer and more aesthetically pleasing. To this day, the members of the school's community are still grateful and so am I. To see the joy that came from the freshly installed swings and painted slides, cut lawn, relocated stones and grounded fencing is forever etched in my memory. Whilst I sincerely appreciate working alongside the mayor, His Worship, The Mayor Collen Gager, the council of that time, the other workers at the Municipal Corporation as well as the other partnerships that were formed, I do wish that I had done more to serve and transform communities and advocate for greater youth involvement and advancement. Nonetheless, I remain grateful and honoured.

To future Junior Mayors, I have one word -SERVE. If your aim is to serve the people of your parish, to represent the youth and to leave tangible, valuable, lasting impact. Be brave enough to speak but humble enough to teach; be visible and active, be proud of your parish and its progress. Advocate for the enrichment of less fortunate and advancement of youths through education and culture, promote good values and morals for the betterment of the parish and Jamaica but above all remain grateful to God for choosing and using you as a conduit of change during your tenure. This is a grand opportunity to be a servant leader, doing what great leaders do - SERVE.

As a graduate of the University of the West Indies Mona with a B.Ed (with honours) in English, Mrs. Blackstock is a teacher of the English Language and Literature, Theatre Arts and Communication Studies at the Westwood High School for eight (8) years. She is also a holder of an Executive Certificate in Public Relations/ Corporate Communications from the University of the Commonwealth Caribbean.

The Annual Mayor's Treat is an occasion that staff and residents alike look forward to each year. At this function, residents of Trelawny are treated to hot meals, supermarket vouchers, gift baskets and wholesome entertainment. A number of sponsors who come on board year to year contributed to the success of the Mayor's Treat.

On March 10, 2022, Minister of Culture, Gender, Entertainment and Sport, Honourable Olivia Grange, along with His Worship the Mayor of Falmouth, C. Junior Gager, unveiled the bust of Violet Moss-Brown in the community of Duanvale, Trelawny.

Violet Brown (née Moss; 10 March 1900 – 15 September 2017) was a Jamaican supercentenarian who was the oldest verified living person in the world for five months.

Brown was born Violet Moss on 10 March 1900 and was one of four children born in Duanvale, Trelawny, British Jamaica, to John Moss, who was a sugar boiler, and Elizabeth Riley. She was baptized at the age of 13 into the Baptist Church.

She is the oldest verified Jamaican person ever and the first verified supercentenarian from Jamaica. Brown was born in Jamaica when it was a part of the British Empire and she was the last known subject of Queen Victoria.

Brown died on September 15, 1997 at a hospital in Montego Bay, Saint James Parish, at the age of 117.

The Transportation Centre located at Tharpe Street, Falmouth was upgraded to meet the standards set by the Transport Authority. Works commenced in June 2023.

These works include: construction of parking bays, fabrication and installation of route signs and other signs, erection of commuters shed, and collectors shed, renovation of sanitary convenience, erection of lift bars among other works. Fencing will be done in short order.

Development of adjoining lands will commence later to facilitate commercial activities: shops, etc.

The month of January is observed annually as Earthquake Awareness Month. During this period, sensitization activities and simulations are carried out across the parish and island to have the citizens in a state of readiness, should an earthquake strike.

The Parish Disaster Coordinator conducted a number of earthquake drills and sensitization across the schools in Trelawny.

The Trelawny Municipal Corporation (TMC) in collaboration with the Office of Disaster Preparedness and Emergency Management (ODPEM) conducted an Emergency Operation Centre (EOC) training on Monday, February 27 and Tuesday, February 28, 2023, in the Town Hall of the Trelawny Municipal Corporation.

The Emergency Operation Centre (EOC) is the designated administrative hub of disaster or emergency response mechanism and should be operated by members of the Parish Disaster Committee. Hence, the purpose of the EOC training was to equip members of the Trelawny Parish Disaster Committee with the skills and knowledge to enable the unhindered movement of residents and visitors, their goods and the delivery of services, maintain social amenities and minimize dislocation of residents arising from adverse events.

Each year the unsung heroes of our parish are highlighted for their dedication to the communities, parish and country. Over the years, residents have been nominated in various categories such as: Education, Community Service and Law Enforcement. Residents have even been awarded for their selfless and kind consideration in their small business establishments.

Among the 2023 awardees was Antonio Watson who hails from Trelawny. He was awarded in the field of sports for his outstanding performance at the World Athletics Championships in Budapest, Hungary.

Among the 48 students that were awarded by the Board of Supervision for high academic performance in the 2022 Primary Exit Profile (PEP), Caribbean Advanced Proficiency Examination (CAPE) and Caribbean Secondary Education Certificate (CSEC) tests at the Spanish Court Hotel in New Kingston on Wednesday, March 29, 2023, were Shanniece Ramdas, Shayane Plumber, and Ava Codling. Hon. Desmond McKenzie in the Ministry of Local Government and Rural Development with responsibility for the Board of Supervision was in attendance. The awardees received financial grants ranging from $30,000.00 to $35,000.00. They were also presented with plaques. "The awards ceremony was held to recognize the brilliance and perseverance of the children of the Poor Relief Department who have not used poverty as an excuse but as motivation to create a brighter future," stated by the Secretary of the Board, Miss Treka Lewis. While it is believed that children from poorer families are more likely to underachieve than those from middle- and upper-income families, Shanniece Ramdas, Shayane Plumber, and Ava Codling have proven otherwise. The Poor Relief Department has nourished the dreams of many children from poor families, who have gone on to be shining examples of excellence and we will continue to nurture and support some of the nation's brightest students who lack the resources to unleash their potential. Additionally, students enrolled in the Poor Relief programme receive assistance for transportation allowance to attend school, examination fees, books, uniforms, medical assistance among other services. Today the Poor Relief Department stands tall and proud for the noble work being carried out by the department.

The Trelawny Drop-In Centre, celebrated Jamaica Day, on March 03, 2023. The main aim of the event was to treat the clients to something different from what they are accustomed to. The event was centered around bringing awareness based on our cultural narrative as well as getting the clients involved in cultural activities.

Jamaica Day this year for the Drop-In Centre was the first of its kind, and also engulfed the whole "Tie and Dye" effect which indicates that no matter where you are in society or what group one makes up; we are all one melting pot of diversity.

The day was well received and has proven to be an exciting time for our clients. Besides indulging in an array of authentic Jamaican cuisine, clients were treated to Jamaican history and proverbs, music and games which kept them entertained throughout the day. The responses of the clients were the epitome of it all; they were very appreciative of the day, and expressed an eagerness for something like this again. All in all, the day was a success, filled with positivity and client-centered satisfaction.

In an effort to help reduce youth unemployment the Minister of Local Government and Community Development, the Hon. Desmond McKenzie has launched the Youth Summer Employment Programme (YSEP) in 2017. Since then, thousands of young people have been gainfully employed during the summer.

The YSEP assists young Jamaicans, particularly those from disadvantaged backgrounds who may face challenges in finding employment, by placing them in various work environments.

Participants gain practical knowledge, improve their communication and teamwork skills, and develop strong work ethic, which are essential for their personal and professional growth.

Young people in Trelawny have benefited immensely from this programme and have testified of how it has helped them in all areas of life.
